

Homework

By Logan Mccallep

You wake up, get ready, and head to school. After you arrive, you instantly feel sick. You feel happy that you get to go home until your mom says "you will have homework to make up". You instantly feel worried. As you look at the assignments at 9:00am, it looks easy. Two minutes went by and you look up it's 12:37pm, you have only completed 2 problems. As you keep pushing, you look up it is now 12:59 pm. Your parents come down and say you are done. You realize it is the next day. You wake up, it was all a dream.