Love You More

By: Jessica Dodson

“Even though you’re not alive anymore, I’m still texting you. I miss those sunrises where I’d awaken at the dock beside you, as you’d gaze at me with such passion. The unforgettable nights in my backyard, me cuddled in your arms, promising me you’ll never let go. It was torture I couldn’t say, love you more, just one last time. Before I leave this Earth as well, always remember I love you.” Tears rolled down my cheeks as I peered at my phone and it showed that the message was read. Then I understood that he knew, he always knew.
