

My New Life:

By: Audrey Atiyeh

It had been two weeks since I left the Jedi Order. It was still hard for me to accept that my old life was over, and my new life was beginning. I wasn't Ahsoka Tano anymore, the incredibly powerful padawan of Anakin Skywalker. I was Ashla Tino, the professional mechanic, sweet, serious, and most of all reserved, and I wasn't planning to be anything more for the rest of my life. I couldn't let anyone know about my past, to risk getting caught by the Separatists. But, could I manage to keep quiet even with the war raging on. That I wasn't too sure about. Not at all.